Refugees are reported to be dying on the streets of Kabul, Kabul has been said to be chaotic, and a few days ago there were reports that a terrorist suicide bomber was killed. But most people don't want to talk about those. They want to talk about the fact that on the surface of the moon, a thousand feet high, in the shadow of an ice wall you can see a human being called Zardoz. But there's one problem with Zardoz. It's the title of a novel by John Wyndham. Space, already a somewhat-controversial medium in the planet Earth, is a burgeoning one in a galaxy far, far away. So it can be seen as a somewhat natural fit that it should also be claimed by alien folk. Back in 1967 an unknown composer named Michael Nesmith was sitting at the piano late one night in his run-down apartment, composing a song he called 'Supertown'. He'd found his way there by stealth. His abusive mother would often lock him in a room for hours to punish him for creating something he believed was rather ordinary. During those hours Nesmith would rehearse his songs in his mind. That night, he wrote this little ditty. The irresistible force that is Nesmith's career and career destiny was about to hit an immovable object. He was on the brink of signing a contract with Capitol Records. One that was to reunite him with his former band, The Monkees. It was said they needed someone to sing the high harmonies as a third member on their recordings. The rest is history. And still, one man has come forward claiming to be the man who called himself Michael Nesmith. In the latest edition of Spinner magazine, he's talked

The semiconductor optical device of this embodiment includes a light emitting diode (LED) having a plurality of channel regions and a method for manufacturing thereof. The semiconductor optical device of this embodiment further includes a light emitting diode having a light emitting layer (OL) arranged above channel regions and a method for manufacturing thereof. Referring to FIG. 1, the related channel region may be a channel region 3A formed on a substrate 1, a channel region 3A formed on a channel layer 6A, and a channel region 3B formed on an epitaxial layer 3, all of which are referred to as channel region 3. A cathode electrode 7 may be arranged to contact the substrate 1 and a cathode electrode 7 may be arranged to contact the channel layer 6A or the epitaxial layer 3. The channel layer 6A contacts the channel regions 3A and 3B, and the channel layer 6A is exposed to the channel regions 3A and 3B. The width of the channel layer 6A is inversely proportional to the light emitting diode size. Therefore, as the size of the light emitting diode is reduced, it is desirable that the size of the channel layer 6A is also reduced. If the channel layer 6A has a small size, it may 3da54e8ca3
