I am developing an small application with Direct3D 11 and C++. To make it cross-platform, the application is used with ASP.NET, compiled by Microsoft's compiler and Windows is used for testing. Now to present images, I have a class "ImageProvider", which I use in my D3D application to load DDS images. I have problem with loading *.dds files. public class ImageProvider : IDisposable { const string path = "D:\\Program Files (x86)\\Steam\\steamapps\\common\\Counter-Strike Global Offensive\\mods\\company-store\\images\\models\\static\\fireworks\\"; // for loading a bmp from a stream public BitmapImage LoadBMPFromStream(Stream inputStream) { BitmapImage bitmap = null; using (MemoryStream ms = new MemoryStream()) { byte[] buffer = new byte[2048]; int read; while ((read = inputStream.Read(buffer, 0, buffer.Length)) > 0) ms.Write(buffer, 0, read); } bitmap = new BitmapImage(new Uri(path)); c6a93da74d
